

GRAM PANCHAYAT

Why do GRAM PANCHAYAT Exist?

The Gram Panchayat plays a really important role for the development of a village and its community.

It performs activities like –

- Maintenance and construction of water resources, roads, drainage, School buildings and CPR (common property resources)
- Collect local taxes.
- Execute government schemes related to employment.
- Administrative, social, economic, and judicial functions.
- Ensures the participation of the villages in developing their community.

There are about 250,000 Gram Panchayats in India. The gram panchayat meeting is conducted in a meeting room commonly known as Panchayat Hall.
